

WEEK 4 DEF STREAMERS

LOOKING FOR TEAMS ON LESS THAN 60% OF ROSTERS IN YAHOO

1

TAMPA BAY BUCCANEERS @ NO

Despite a rough matchup against PHI, they have forced multiple turnovers and gotten a sack in every game this season. Facing a NO offense without Derek Carr helps ease my concern with Alvin Kamara returning to their offense. Even with Kamara, this has been a bottom-ten offense in points per game, facing a top-12 defense in points allowed. On the road, the weather isn't going to play a role, which makes me think this is a high-floor, low-ceiling option for seven points.

2

CLEVELAND BROWNS VS BAL

Over the past three weeks, they have never allowed more than 14 points in any game this season while forcing multiple sacks. They are also the number one defense in points per game and total yards per game allowed. Now they get to face a BAL offense that missed a couple of starters on the offensive line and has multiple RBs injured. I would consider this defense one of the top pickups and would roster them beyond this week if they didn't have a bye next week.

3

INDIANAPOLIS COLTS VS LAR

This isn't an exciting option, especially since they have a somewhat tough matchup against LAR at home. Still, this defense has quietly been a top-ten defense in fantasy, holding their opponents to less than 21 points in two consecutive games while forcing multiple sacks and a turnover each game this season. I wouldn't be starting this defense and expecting double-digit scoring, but a solid five to eight points and a decent matchup next week (TEN).

4

HOUSTON TEXANS VS PIT

Now, this might seem ridiculous, but is it time that we give HOU's defense some credit? They haven't been as awful as we expected, forcing multiple turnovers in two of their three games. They also faced some decent teams (BAL, JAX) and didn't look bad. Now they face a struggling offense in PIT (bottom ten in yards per game). This could easily be a bad idea, but nobody is looking to start them, and if you miss out on the above options, then I wouldn't feel horrible taking a chance on this decent matchup.

FOLLOW US @AKAMAIFANTASY

WWW.AKAMAIFANTASYFOOTBALL.COM