

WEEK 7 QB STREAMERS

LOOKING FOR PLAYERS ON LESS THAN 60% OF ROSTERS IN YAHOO

1

MARCUS MARIOTA (ATL) @ CIN

While he hasn't been setting the world on fire with his passing, he's been a solid game manager with a high floor due to his rushing ability within the offense. Over the past four games, he has either had a rushing touchdown or surpassed 50 rushing yards in three of those four. Facing a solid but not spectacular CIN defense, he's a "safe" mid-tier QB2 in superflex leagues.

JARED GOFF (DET) @ DAL

Coming off a bye week after getting shut out, this is a good buy-low opportunity for one of the season's surprises. He's been averaging at least 250 yards and threw two touchdowns this season, and while this is a tough matchup, I can see Goff getting his numbers in garbage time or getting lucky off a couple of big plays. He's a high-end QB2 in superflex leagues but too risky in single QB leagues.

JIMMY GAROPPOLO (SF) VS KC

While he wasn't great last week, he continued to throw at least 250 yards and two touchdowns in consecutive games (averaging over 225 passing yards per game). Facing a KC defense that is bottom ten in turnovers and red zone touchdowns, this is another decent matchup for a conservative 15-19 fantasy points to get you through as a bye-week filler in single QB leagues or a high-end QB2 in superflex leagues.

DANIEL JONES (NYG) @ JAX

This is tough because I don't have any trust in Daniel Jones himself, but he has been okay as a game manager and has protected the ball well (two turnovers in the past five games). Facing a JAX defense, that's top five in rushing yards per attempt but bottom ten in sacks, I'm treating this as a bye-week filler in superflex leagues or a risky last resort in single QB leagues.
