

DEF STREAM WEEK 16

12/22/2020

These four DEF are streamable options and currently are rostered in less than 60% of Yahoo leagues.

TAMPA BAY BUCCANEERS @ DET

While they haven't been performing too well recently, they have a good matchup against an injured DET offense. If Stafford misses the game, then they become an immediate top 10 option. If Stafford is healthy, I would consider this a floor option with some potential for upside in the case of a couple of turnovers.

WASHINGTON FOOTBALL TEAM VS CAR

They have scored double-digit points in three of their last five games. They face a decent but exploitable CAR offense that is missing its best player. I am not too sure how the revenge game narrative works with head coaches, but those things make me optimistic in this matchup. If CMC returns, then I may consider another option.

LOS ANGELES CHARGERS VS DEN

Divisional rivalries are unpredictable, and I think there's a chance for double digit points, which is more than what I can say for other options. Facing a DEN offense that has given up multiple turnovers before, I could also see Drew Lock throwing three touchdowns. This recommendation is a swing for the fences, all or nothing type of start, which can win/lose your matchup.

ARIZONA CARDINALS VS SF

Coming off of double-digit performances against NYG and PHI, they will be looking to continue this against an SF offense that looked bad last week against DAL. If Kittle and Mostert are both healthy, I may have some doubts about starting them. But for the most part, this is a decent option to get a handful of points with some turnover upside.

