

QB STREAM WEEK 5

10/06/2020

These five QB are streamable options and currently are rostered in less than 60% of Yahoo leagues.

RYAN TANNEHILL - TEN VS BUF

Disclaimer: This is assuming the team is healthy and ready to play. But facing against a good Buffalo defense that has given up over 300 yards and two touchdowns over the past three matchups, there's a good chance that we could be seeing a bounce-back game.

KIRK COUSINS - MIN @ SEA

Cousins' key to success is passing touchdowns as he's a streaming option whenever he's thrown more than one passing touchdown. He will likely have to keep up with Russell Wilson, who has been on an MVP campaign this season. The odds of a meltdown are there, but I'm taking my chances.

GARDNER MINSHEW - JAX @ HOU

He's the epitome of a streaming quarterback that I prefer. He's on a team with a below-average defense, he has some rushing ability and can produce QB1 numbers against good matchups. With D.J. Chark returning last week, you could see the impact it had on the offense. Now facing HOU, he's a streaming option if you're looking for 250 yards and a couple of touchdowns.

DEREK CARR - LV @ KC

When I learned about the injuries to the receiving core, I was scared away from starting Carr. He proved me wrong by throwing for more than 250 yards and two TD against NE and BUF. This week against KC, he'll have to keep up this performance as you would expect them to focus on Josh Jacobs.

TEDDY BRIDGEWATER - CAR @ ATL

While I think he's improving as the season progresses, I'm not confident against bad matchups. However, I'm not afraid of the ATL defense, and with the injuries to the secondary, this could be a high scoring game. Divisional rivals mean anything is possible, but not a bad consolation prize if the above names are gone.

