

WEEK 7 QB STREAMERS

LOOKING FOR PLAYERS ON LESS THAN 55% OF ROSTERS IN YAHOO

1

TEDDY BRIDGEWATER- (DEN) - VS @ CLE

Garbage time saved his stat line last week, throwing for three TDs and three INTs. He faces a good CLE defense but with a beaten-up offense. Teddy has been decent recently (over 275 yards & two TDs in back-to-back games) and will need him to win. I'm not confident in starting him as I feel it's a coin toss between him finishing with 18 or 10 points, but the injuries to CLE have me leaning towards the former.

DEREK CARR - (LV) - VS PHI

Throwing at least two TDs in all but one game this season, I'm looking forward to picking him up despite facing a decent PHI defense. Carr has been relatively consistent and is the offense's focal point (four games with over 325 yds and two TDs). I would be surprised if he finishes in the top eight, but the top 12 is definitely possible. He's one of the highest floor options available on this list.

TAYLOR HEINICKE - (WAS) - @ GB

After disappointing me last week, why is he here again? He faces an injured GB secondary that was missing its two top corners the previous week. Remember the boom-or-bust nature (two games with over 275 yds and 2 TDs/three games with less than 250 yds and one TD) and not rush to pick him up over safer options like the ones above. I wouldn't be considering him unless in superflex leagues.

TUA TAGOVAILOA - (MIA) - VS ATL

Did you miss out on the other options? Tua is a last-resort option in superflex leagues coming off a solid performance (over 325 yards and two TDs) against a subpar JAX defense. He faces a mediocre ATL defense, and if one of Preston Williams/Davante Parker returns, then I can see a scenario where he gets you 250 yards and a couple of TDs. Of course, he can also finish with 200 yards and no TDs, so tread carefully.
