

DEF STREAM WEEK 7

10/20/2020

These four DEF are streamable options and currently are rostered in less than 60% of Yahoo leagues.

TAMPA BAY BUCS @ LV

Surprisingly this defense is not considered a weekly start already for most leagues. They have scored double digit performances in three of the last five weeks. If you are lucky enough to find them on waivers, pick them up as one of the top streaming options not just for this week, but next week as well when they face the Giants.

PHILADELPHIA EAGLES VS NYG

Since I can't lazily target the Jets opponent this week, I'll do the exact same thing for the Giants. With all the injuries to the Eagles, that defense is still above average despite their last two performances against PIT and BAL. Streaming is about weekly upside and I don't see how you can ignore it this week against a turnover prone offense.

WASHINGTON FOOTBALL TEAM VS DAL

I initially thought last week that I'll be recommending the Dallas defense next week, but I have done a complete 180 on my opinion after last week. I understand that it was Dalton's first game and he will improve. But that offensive line is decimated and with All-Pro Zack Martin banged up, I don't see how that pass rush doesn't cause turnovers or ends drives.

CLEVELAND BROWNS @ CIN

I think we cannot forget about how good the Browns looked prior to last week against PIT. This is still a serviceable defense that will likely be up in gamescript and control the tempo of the game. Burrow is going to be great, but he's still a rookie and will make mistakes. Divisional matchups are tough to predict, but I'm willing to give them a chance if none of the above options are available.

