

WEEK 6 QB STREAMERS

LOOKING FOR PLAYERS ON LESS THAN 60% OF ROSTERS IN YAHOO

1

JUSTIN FIELDS (CHI) VS WAS

Facing a bottom-ten defense in points allowed, passing yards per attempt, and passing touchdowns, this is a good matchup for a young QB who has thrown at least 20+ attempts over the past two games and surpassing 200 yards last week while scoring his second passing touchdown of the season. He also averaged 48 rushing yards over the past three games. He's a streaming option in 2QB leagues only.

GENO SMITH (AZ) VS ARI

Geno Smith has been taking the world by storm, surpassing 300 passing yards, and has at least thrown two passing touchdowns over the past three games. Fortunately, he's facing a below-average defense in yards per pass attempt, passing touchdowns, and bottom-five in completion % allowed gives me the sense that Smtih will continue his hot streak as a top-12 QB. But just because I mention it, he'll regress, and it'll be my fault.

JIMMY GAROPPOLO (SF) @ ATL

Jimmy Garoppolo has been solid over the past three games averaging over 230 passing yards and throwing four touchdowns in that span. Facing an ATL defense that's within the bottom five in sacks and passing yards allowed, there's a decent matchup for him to take advantage of. With this decent matchup, this feels like a floor play for 15-18 points and is a low-end streaming option and a decent mid-tier QB2 option with some upside.

JACOBY BRISSETT (CLE) VS NE

Over the past three games, Brissett has thrown at least 30 passing attempts, surpassing 225 yards in three consecutive games. However, he's only averaging one passing touchdown per game. Hence, the upside is limited, but facing a bottom-ten defense in rushing yards per attempt and passing touchdowns may help him reach top-12/15 QB value as a low-end streaming option or mid-tier QB2 in superflex leagues.
