

WEEK 14 DEF STREAMERS

LOOKING FOR TEAMS ON LESS THAN 60% OF ROSTERS IN YAHOO

1

MINNESOTA VIKINGS @ LV

Despite not considered a great defense, they're in the top 12 and are a top-ten defense in rushing yards allowed and points per game. They go on the road against an LV offense in the bottom ten in turnovers and haven't scored more than 17 points in three straight games. They haven't been too impressive in recent weeks but have forced multiple turnovers and generated a sack in three of their last four games. I would consider them a top 12, high-floor streaming option with upside to finish in the top eight.

2

HOUSTON TEXANS @ NYJ

This doesn't have to be complicated. Any decent defense will finish in the top 12 against this horrible NYJ offense that is bottom five in turnovers and points per game. This HOU defense has generated multiple sacks and a turnover in three of their last four games and is also top-ten in rushing yards allowed per game. Due to the great matchup, they have a top-five upside and should be considered one of the top streaming options available, no matter who's the starting QB for NYJ.

3

INDIANAPOLIS COLTS @ CIN

This defense has quietly been a top-three defense in three of their last four games. They get to face a CIN offense that looked impressive last week. Despite how well they looked, this is still a decent matchup worth streaming. This IND defense has forced multiple turnovers and generated at least four sacks in four straight games. Of course, there's some risk with this matchup because CIN doesn't turn the ball over, which makes this one of the last-resort options worth taking a shot on for a handful of points.

4

GREEN BAY PACKERS @ NYG

After a decent performance against KC, they have a good matchup against a bottom-three offense in yards and points per game. There's a chance Tyrod Taylor may start, but that doesn't change much for this depleted offense. This GB defense has generated multiple sacks and a turnover in three straight games against decent offenses, holding them to less than 24 points. They are also a top-ten defense in scoring but are bottom-ten in rushing yards allowed, which hurts the upside on this high-floor top-12 streaming option.

FOLLOW US @AKAMAIFANTASY

WWW.AKAIMAIFANTASYFOOTBALL.COM