

WEEK 14 QB STREAMERS

LOOKING FOR PLAYERS ON LESS THAN 70% OF ROSTERS IN YAHOO

1

DEREK CARR (NO) @ NYG

I'm not a big fan of Derek Carr, but he has been putting up decent streaming numbers, throwing at least 240 yards and multiple touchdowns in two of his last three games. Facing an NYG defense that is league-average in points and offensive yards allowed, it could be a better matchup. However, with how their season has been going, I wouldn't be surprised if Carr continues what he's done recently and gives us a risky top-15 performance as a last-resort streaming option

2

RUSSELL WILSON (PIT) VS CLE

Coming off his best game of the season, he has thrown multiple touchdowns in two of his last four games and is facing a defense that has given up over 30 points in two of their last three games and is currently in the bottom 10 defenses in points allowed. While I don't expect Wilson to repeat last week's performance, he has certainly shown enough upside to be a solid streaming candidate against this CLE defense and be a high-risk, high-reward top-15 option.

3

CALEB WILLIAMS (CHI) @ SF

Over the last two weeks, he has been playing his best football, throwing over 250 yards and at least three touchdowns in back-to-back games. Now he gets to face a SF defense that is injured and not the same defense we've seen in forenamed years. Of course, there's certainly some risk as this offense has scored more than 20 points once in their last six games since the bye week. Therefore, I would treat this as a high-risk, high-reward streaming option.

4

WILL LEVIS (TEN) VS JAX

He had another decent performance last week against a beatable WAS defense. He has been quietly a solid streaming option over the past month, throwing over 200 yards and multiple touchdowns in two of the previous four games and three games with two passing touchdowns. Facing a JAX defense in the bottom 10 in passing and rushing yards and points allowed, this couldn't be a better matchup, making him a decent streaming option in single QB leagues.
