

WEEK 15 QB STREAMERS

LOOKING FOR PLAYERS ON LESS THAN 70% OF ROSTERS IN YAHOO

1

BO NIX (DEN) VS IND

Coming off a bye week, he may be available as a top 15 QB option against a solid IND defense this week. Over the last four games, he has thrown over 275 yards in three games and multiple touchdowns in two of those games. However, he hasn't been much of a rushing threat during this span, so it does lower his upside, but it's not enough for me to avoid streaming him. I wouldn't consider him a top option, but he has a higher floor than some of the names below.

2

MATTHEW STAFFORD (LAR) @ SF

Coming off one of his best games of the season last week, he surpassed 300 passing yards for the first time since Week 1. He has surpassed 240 passing yards and thrown multiple touchdowns in three of his last four games. Facing an SF defense that has given up over 30 points in two of their previous three games, the matchup is easier than we usually expect from this defense. He's been a consistent streaming option so far and will be one of the preferred options this week.

3

ANTHONY RICHARDSON @ DEN

Coming off the bye week, his ability as a rusher has kept him right in the streaming conversation, with over 30 rushing yards and a touchdown in two of his last three games. Unfortunately, his upside is capped because of his limited passing volume, failing to surpass 200 passing yards in two of his previous three games. With the mixed numbers against a DEN defense that's currently top-10 in points and rushing yards allowed, it's not a great streaming option, but there is enough upside to consider.

4

DRAKE MAYE (NE) @ ARI

While he hasn't been super impressive, he's been hovering around the streaming range. He's been somewhat consistent, throwing at least 200 yards and a touchdown in four of his last five games. While he's not a rushing threat, he's been a willing runner, surpassing 50 yards in three of his last five games. Facing an ARI defense that has given up 30 points last week, this is a riskier option than some of the above names, but it will likely be available in most of your leagues.

FOLLOW US @AKAMAIFANTASY

WWW.AKAMAIFANTASYFOOTBALL.COM