

DEF STREAM WEEK 15

12/15/2020

These four DEF are streamable options and currently are rostered in less than 60% of Yahoo leagues.

BUFFALO BILLS @ DEN

Coming off an impressive performance against PIT, I'm looking to target them facing DEN this week. The defense is getting healthier, and they are starting to put together a string of decent performances. I'm looking at this matchup with top 10 upside since Drew Lock has forced the ball under pressure, which leads to turnovers.

GREEN BAY PACKERS VS CAR

If D.J. Moore and CMC miss the game, then this is an intriguing option. While CAR has been competitive and will put up points, I'm not afraid of this defense giving up 30+ points against a limited offense. They have played well recently and have the potential for a big game, but I'm betting on seven points to get you enough not to cost you a win.

TAMPA BAY BUCCANEERS @ ATL

Disclaimer: This is only if Julio Jones misses the game. If Julio plays, then I would consider any of the other options on this list. But when Julio doesn't play, it's an entirely different offense. The pass rush will pressure Matt Ryan throughout the game, and I can see a defensive TD happening. If Julio plays, it limits the upside, and this becomes a floor play instead.

CLEVELAND BROWNS @ NYG

Facing a struggling NYG offense, this is a decent option to target if the above isn't available. They have been disappointing over the past couple of weeks against TEN and BAL, but they have easier matchups against NYG and NYJ. If Denzel Ward returns, that will help quell my concerns that this may be a worse matchup than what it appears.

