

BREAKDOWN

This is not your typical draft guide with stats and more numbers than a balance sheet, but rather how players and their skills fit with their team and what kind of player are we getting. This may not get you to the championship in every league, but it'll provide you a deeper understanding that separates you from Jenkins in Accounting.

OPPORTUNITY - SCHEME/TEAM

Why is the quarterback not throwing him the ball every time?

Why do they sub him out on 3rd down when he's running the ball well?

Every time he touches the ball he's tackled behind the line!

TALENT - SPECIALIZED SKILLS

All you gotta do is throw the ball up there and let him make the play.

What breakaway speed! He's going to go..all..the..way!

Keeps his pad level low and has good balance to absorb arm tackles.

WHAT DOES THEIR HISTORY SAY?

The last time he played 13 games was in 2015 when he was a RB1.....

C'mon those concussions were like two years ago. He's over them by now.

In the last 10 games he played with his QB, he was TE 4 in PPR!

WHAT'S THEIR FLOOR/CEILING?

If X happens and Y happens more often, we're looking at a league winner!

Oh wow, I didn't think it could be this bad. I should've saw this coming!

He's probably somewhere in the middle, but which side??

GENERAL TIERS - LEGEND

Diamond: The best of the best. Simple.

Gold: Consistent starter. Can finish in top 12 (RB/WR) or top 4 (QB/TE)

A Good: Can finish top 12 or 4 but more likely top 20 (RB/WR) or top 8 (QB/TE)

B OK: Solid starting option.
