

WEEK 8 DEF STREAMERS

LOOKING FOR TEAMS ON LESS THAN 55% OF ROSTERS IN YAHOO

1

WASHINGTON FOOTBALL TEAM @ DEN

Coming off of three consecutive games with more than one sack and at least one turnover against KC, GB, & NO, I've been impressed with them. Facing an injured DEN offense with Teddy giving up an INT in back-to-back games could be another solid streaming option. I will be looking at this defense over the others below because of the upside for a double-digit performance.

2

CINCINNATI BENGALS @ NYJ

Usually, I wouldn't recommend this defense but facing a struggling NYJ offense, possibly starting a back-up QB, is a great matchup. The defense has generated sacks in every game this season and doesn't often give up many points (allowed less than 21 points in four games). This defense is a high floor option that I expect five to eight points with the possibility for more.

3

DALLAS COWBOYS @ MIN

This defense has been explosive with three TDs over the past four games, generating more than one turnover as well. They have been getting sacks but are a little inconsistent. Facing a MIN offense that doesn't make too many mistakes, there's undoubtedly some risk as this could be a high-scoring game. However, I'm confident that this defense will continue this run and be a solid streaming option.

4

PHILADELPHIA EAGLES @ DET

I know they haven't looked good recently, but facing DET is an excellent opportunity for a bounce-back game. Coming off four consecutive games with a turnover and Jared Goff throwing an INT in three straight games, I'm optimistic that this defense will continue the streak and possibly have one of its better games of the season.

There's undoubtedly some risk, but the upside is high enough for me to stream them.

FOLLOW US @AKAMAIFANTASY

WWW.AKAMAIFANTASYFOOTBALL.COM