

UNDER/OVER RATED – QB

2021–2022 SEASON

KIRK COUSINS

UNDERRATED

Throwing for more than 4,200 yards and 30 TDs in two out of three seasons, he's currently drafted outside of the top 15 QBs. If you're looking for a solid floor (250 yds & 3 TDs in 7/16 games), he is perfect to target with his weapons in Jefferson and Thielen. My go-to late-round option in six-point passing TD leagues and superflex leagues.

OVERRATED

JOE BURROW

In 10 games last season, he averaged 268 yards and less than 1.5 TDs per game. He'll take a step forward in his second year with an improved offensive line and Jamarr Chase, but that upside is priced in as he's drafted around the top 12. Unfortunately, he's still in a division with multiple good defenses (PIT, CLE, BAL), and there's not enough floor for me to draft him as his current ADP.

UNDERRATED

Hard to believe the QB who finished 3rd in yards and tied for 2nd in passing TDs is generally drafted outside the top eight. While he's not a top-five option, he is someone with a solid floor option and the upside to finish in the top five. The team will continue to rely on him to run the offense, and with Godwin/Evans/Brown/Gronk on the team is a good value pick.

TREVOR LAWRENCE

While he's drafted outside of the top 12 QBs, he's another player who doesn't have much of a floor at their current ADP. The team lost pass-catcher Travis Etienne and is learning a new offense under a first-year NFL head coach. He'll have good games, but I question the consistency against good defenses at his current ADP.
