

WEEK 3 QB STREAMERS

LOOKING FOR PLAYERS ON LESS THAN 70% OF ROSTERS IN YAHOO

1

SAM DARNOLD (MIN) VS HOU

It feels crazy to mention his name again, but he was nothing short of impressive last week against a good SF defense. Addison and Jefferson missed time during that game. Now, they face a decent but not on the same level HOU defense at home. If Jefferson doesn't miss the game, I will be willing to stream Darnold as a solid superflex option, even in single QB leagues, if my original option is injured. However, I am not expecting Darnold to do more than 200 passing yards and a couple of touchdowns.

2

KIRK COUSINS (ATL) VS KC

After that impressive game-winning drive last week, we saw some flashes of what we were hoping from the ATL offense that was missing last week. They face an excellent KC defense this week, and I'm a little nervous about the matchup because of Chris Jones. Because of this, I'm avoiding Cousins in single QB leagues, but if you're lucky enough to find him available in superflex leagues, I would start him. However, he may be worth streaming in the future, so I'm not against stashing him if you have a deep bench.

3

GENO SMITH (SEA) VS MIA

With Kenneth Walker's injury, Geno Smith took on more of the offense and looked solid, throwing for over 300 yards and one touchdown with no turnovers over a solid NE defense. This week, they will face an MIA offense without their starting quarterback. If Kenneth Walker continues to miss time, then I would be pretty comfortable with Geno in single-QB leagues. Still, if Walker returns, I would limit the potential upside and may pivot away from him except in superflex leagues.

4

DEREK CARR (NO) VS PHI

For the record, I'm not fully bought in on the resurrection of Derek Carr, despite two impressive showings. Last week, he was against a good DAL defense, and it didn't even look difficult for Carr to throw for over 240 yards in 16 attempts. This week, they face a PHI defense that gave up 240 yards, two touchdowns to Kirk Cousins, and similar numbers to Jordan Love the previous week. Because of the matchup, I expect Carr to continue putting up top 12-15 QB numbers this week.

FOLLOW US @AKAMAIFANTASY

WWW.AKAMAIFANTASYFOOTBALL.COM