

QB STREAM WEEK 14

12/9/2020

These four QB are streamable options and currently are rostered in less than 60% of Yahoo leagues.

TEDDY BRIDGEWATER - CAR VS DEN

Coming off the bye week, Teddy will hopefully be healthier and ready to face a beatable DEN defense. The loss of DJ Moore will limit his upside, but I imagine the additional time to prepare will prevent it from being disastrous. Teddy has been a streaming option for most of the season, and I expect that to continue. If CMC returns, that obviously helps, but I wouldn't pivot if he does miss this game.

MATTHEW STAFFORD - DET VS GB

Divisional matchups are unpredictable, and I wouldn't be surprised if this ends up being somewhat of a shootout. Coming off his best performance of the season against a dangerous CHI defense, he has shown what he's capable of despite missing Golladay and Swift. With GB vulnerable against the run, I can see them being vulnerable for big plays once they mix in some play action.

PHILIP RIVERS - IND @ LV

I don't like having him here, but sometimes you need to recognize when someone has been playing well and change your opinion. After three decent performances against GB, TEN, and HOU, I'm considering starting him against LV to continue his streak with another 250 yards and two TDs. Pittman's return has helped the offense, and I don't anticipate it slowing down this week.

ANDY DALTON - DAL @ CIN

This is not a good week to stream QBs, and a revenge game narrative shouldn't be the main reason you're starting someone. But here we are. If you missed out on Bridgewater or Stafford, then what other options do you have? He has looked okay since returning from injury and could end up with a similar performance against a subpar defense.

