

WEEK 4 QB STREAMERS

LOOKING FOR PLAYERS ON LESS THAN 70% OF ROSTERS IN YAHOO

1

MATTHEW STAFFORD (LAR) VS IND

I will continue to have him here as a good streaming option, considering he is averaging over 200 passing yards per game and threw two touchdowns in two of those, including one against a good PHI defense. While IND is not a great matchup, it's one of the easier ones so far, and as long as the playmakers are healthy, I believe Stafford is a high-floor top-15 option and one of the best QB2 options to have. In single QB leagues, he hasn't had a great game yet, but he's been solid enough to get you 15-19 points.

2

GENO SMITH (LV) VS CHI

Coming off his best performance of the season, he has been inconsistent, either throwing over 275 yards and one touchdown in two games or less than 200 yards and zero touchdowns in the other. This pattern makes me think that we're going to see more of this throughout the season. The LV offense has run through its passing game, which means that Smith's success is against good matchups, and that's what the CHI defense is. I would treat Smith as a boom-or-bust top 12 streaming option with top ten upside.

3

SAM DARNOLD (SEA) @ AZ

Darnold has put together a couple of good games, throwing over 200 yards and two touchdowns in back-to-back games. Now he faces an AZ defense in the bottom five in passing yards allowed per game. However, there is some risk as they are also a top ten defense in points allowed and have benefited from decent matchups. SEA likes to run the ball, so his upside will be limited, and that wouldn't make him ideal in single QB leagues, but if you're desperate, he's a boom-or-bust top-15 streaming option.

4

BRYCE YOUNG (CAR) @ NE

Despite a poor performance, it was primarily due to a negative game script where they were leading the entire way. It will be a more competitive game this week against an NE defense that is in the bottom ten in passing yards allowed. If NE CB Christian Gonzales is healthy, then I would choose another option like Tua Tagovailoa. I'm not expecting his Week 2 performance (338 yards and three touchdowns) to be a repeat; he will likely surprise us again with a solid top-12 performance that offers potential upside.

FOLLOW US @AKAMAIFANTASY

WWW.AKAIMAIFANTASYFOOTBALL.COM