

WEEK 9 QB STREAMERS

LOOKING FOR PLAYERS ON LESS THAN 70% OF ROSTERS IN YAHOO

1

JAXON DART (NYG) VS SF

Despite the tough matchup and Skattebo's injury, Dart continued to perform well, throwing a touchdown in five straight games and rushing for a touchdown in three straight games against good PHI and DEN defenses. This week, they are facing an injured SF defense that has given up at least 21 points in four of its last five games, including 26 last week against a below-average HOU offense. I wouldn't consider Dart my top streaming option, but he's one of the better streaming options available.

2

SAM DARNOLD (SEA) @ WAS

Despite the rough performance against HOU, I'm optimistic that he will bounce back against a WAS defense that's in the bottom ten in passing yards allowed per game and has given up at least 24 points in three straight games. Coming out of the bye week, Darnold has thrown at least 200 yards and a touchdown in all but one game this season and has thrown multiple touchdowns in two of the last three. He's one of the "safer" top 15 streaming options, considering the decent matchup.

3

JACOBY BRISSETT/KYLER MURRAY (AZ) @ DAL

While there are two names, this will be about Brissett since he's likely on waivers (pickup Murray if he's available too). Over the last two weeks before the bye, I've watched Brissett throw for over 250 yards and multiple touchdowns against decent defenses (IND & GB). Now the AZ offense faces a DAL defense that's in the bottom three in passing yards allowed and points allowed per game. I prefer Brissett over Murray, but either guy is a top-15 streaming option with top-10 upside.

4

J.J. MCCARTHY (MIN) @ DET

While we didn't get to see much, he wasn't impressive in the limited time we did. Returning from injury, I'm anticipating him to show some progress and potentially be a top-15 option. Wentz showed the upside/floor with this offense, and I am betting McCarthy won't be much worse against a decent DET defense. He will have opportunities, considering they will need to score over 20 points to win. If he can get around 220 yards and two touchdowns, that's good enough to be a boom-or-bust streaming option.

FOLLOW US @AKAMAIFANTASY

WWW.AKAMAIFANTASYFOOTBALL.COM