

DEF STREAM WEEK 12

11/24/2020

These four DEF are streamable options and currently are rostered in less than 60% of Yahoo leagues.

NEW YORK GIANTS @ CIN

We have another team to add to the “start every DEF against them” category. With the unfortunate injury to Burrow, this team will be hard to watch, especially without Mixon for the next three weeks at least. The Giants have been playing better in recent weeks, and coming off of a bye, are available in nearly every league.

GREEN BAY PACKERS VS CHI

Divisional rivals are unpredictable so take this with a grain of salt. The injuries to Foles and Trubisky make this team interesting if you need six points to get you by. It's not projected to be a high scoring game, and turnovers are likely to happen (Foles has an INT in seven out of eight games). GB also faces PHI next week if you're thinking ahead.

CLEVELAND BROWNS @ JAX

Facing JAX this week, I'm confident in this matchup regardless if Myles Garrett plays. Luton hasn't been awful, but he's not much better (if at all) than Minshew. The offense has been getting healthier, so I anticipate that CLE will control the time of possession. Coming off of a fantastic performance, I'm hoping we see another double-digit performance.

WASHINGTON FOOTBALL TEAM @ DAL

Coming off a strong performance against CIN, facing DAL is not a bad matchup to have afterward. There's some concern since Dalton played well last week, so if you can get NYG, then go ahead. But if you already started them last week, I wouldn't be in a rush to replace them since the upside is still there.

