

WEEK 15 THURSDAY NIGHT - LAC VS KC

SPREAD & O/U: KC - 3; 52

FINAL SCORE: KC 28 - LAC 27

Bottom ten in scoring defense allowing more than 24 points per game (25.8)

1

Top ten in scoring defense allowing less than 21 points per game (20.6)

Bottom ten in red zone defense allowing a TD more than 60% of red zone attempts (67.3%)

2

Below average red zone defense allowing a TD more than 60% of red zone attempts (61.5%)

The team hopes S Derwin James and CB Asante Samuel, Jr. will return after missing last week. T Rashawn Slater out will hurt the O-line.

3

With DT Chris Jones out, the pass rush will be limited while the secondary will miss CB L'Jarius Sneed out.

Top ten in total rush attempts, however within the bottom five of rush yards per carry (3.8). Top ten in total passing yards and TDs.

4

Within the top five in total passing yards, total TDs, and INTs. Despite being a pass-heavy team, they are above average in rush yards per carry (4.5).

Top ten in 3rd down conversation rate (44.2%) and below-average red zone offense scoring a TD in 57.1% of opportunities.

5

Top five in 3rd down conversion rate (49%) and near the top ten in total red zone attempts despite scoring a TD on 61% of opportunities (14th in league).

CHARGERS

Justin Herbert is an obvious start.

QB

Austin Ekerler is an obvious start.
Everyone else I would avoid.

RB

Keenan Allen and Mike Williams are obvious starts. Jalen Guyton has been hot and a boom or bust option worth considering.

WR

I would try to avoid Jared Cook and Donald Parham Jr., but I'd start Cook as a TD dependant streamer.

TE

I would try to avoid starting this defense.

D

CHIEFS

Patrick Mahomes is an obvious start.

Clyde Edwards Heliare is an obvious start and Darrell Williams is a TD dependant flex.

Tyreek Hill is an obvious start. Meole Hardman is a boom or bust option similar to Jalen Guyton. I don't have the guts to start another WR.

Travis Kelce is an obvious start.

I would try to avoid starting this defense. I'd prefer this side if I had to pick one.
