

WAIVER ADDS WEEK 13

12/1/2020

These five players should be targeted in most 12 team leagues and are currently rostered in less than 40% of Yahoo leagues.

DEVONTAE BOOKER - LV (6)

With Jacobs dealing with an ankle injury, it could open up the possibility of a plug and play RB2 as teams are preparing for the playoffs. When Booker took over garbage time against DEN, he finished with 16 carries for 81 yards and two TDs. Facing against NYJ, which is likely to favor a run-heavy game script, I'm targeting him in any league as a precautionary add in case if Jacobs's injury is severe.

ALLEN LAZARD - GB (5)

After making his debut two weeks ago and scoring a TD last week, his role and activity have ramped up as he returned from injury. He will compete for targets with Tonyan among MVS and others, but I believe he will continue to be serviceable WR4/5. With matchups against PHI, DET, & CAR, I'm not opposed to starting him in a pinch.

CAM AKERS - LAR (9)

I will not start any RB from LAR if I can help it. But if you're in the mood to gamble, then Akers is a guy who might interest you. Despite being in a three RB committee, there is enough fantasy value for one RB every week to be serviceable. Since the bye week, Henderson has been leading the team in carries but hasn't looked effective, while Akers has made some big plays. This is a speculative add if I miss out on Booker.

DALTON SCHULTZ- DAL (10)

Did we get a tight end on here? If you missed out on the Logan Thomas memo, another opportunity has arrived. Averaging six targets over the past five games, there are opportunities for a decent performance in what has been a wasteland of a position. With the team playing behind most of the time, this is a chance to get a handful of points consistently in an inconsistent position.

DENZEL MIMS - NYJ (10)

This one is a longshot, but I couldn't ignore a rookie receiver stringing together some promising performances. With more than seven targets over the past three games, he has carved himself a role within the offense regardless of who's at QB. He is a playmaker who has flashed recently and could be a boom or bust option in the playoffs if you have the guts.

