

WEEK 6 DEF STREAMERS

LOOKING FOR TEAMS ON LESS THAN 60% OF ROSTERS IN YAHOO

1

GREEN BAY PACKERS VS AZ

This defense continues to be a top-five defense with another strong performance last week, generating multiple sacks and turnovers in three straight games. They have also allowed 14 points or less in three games. They face an AZ offense at home that has given up a sack and a turnover in every game this season. They also failed to surpass 14 points in two of their last three games. Not much needs to be said, and they should be rostered as an option every week until they have a bad game or two.

LOS ANGELES CHARGERS @ DEN

Coming off a bye week, this defense hasn't been amazing, but they have been solid as they have generated multiple sacks and a turnover in every game this season while holding their opponents to under 21 points. It can be argued that they haven't faced the best offenses, and that's a valid concern, but DEN's offense is not good enough despite looking better in recent games. Currently, they are right outside the top five defenses, and with an upcoming matchup against AZ, they may be worth streaming twice.

HOUSTON TEXANS @ NE

While I haven't been that high on this defense, I cannot deny that they have had a couple of solid performances before last week's disappointment. They generated four sacks and multiple turnovers during those games and are facing a TEN offense that has given up at least three sacks and multiple turnovers in three of their last four games. Because of this matchup, I think this is an intriguing, high-risk, high-reward streaming option that will get you double digits or less than five points.

NEW ORLEANS SAINTS VS TB

It was a tough decision between this defense and HOU, which is against NE on the road. I decided to go with NO because this defense has been a top-ten defense, generating at least three sacks and multiple turnovers in their first three games of the season. Last week, they had an okay performance of, generating two sacks and forcing a turnover. They are facing a TB offense that has given up a sack in every game this season. While that is not saying much, I consider this a last-resort streaming option.
