

WEEK 12 DEF STREAMERS

LOOKING FOR TEAMS ON LESS THAN 60% OF ROSTERS IN YAHOO

1

DENVER BRONCOS VS CLE

After a solid performance last week, I will continue riding the wave, as this defense has forced multiple turnovers in five of their previous seven games. They also held their opponents under 21 points in four of their last five games, generating multiple sacks in three games. They looked solid against KC and BUF and have an upcoming matchup against a rookie QB that led an offense to less than 14 points. They don't have the top-five upside, but I believe they have a top-12 floor worth rostering.

NEW ENGLAND PATRIOTS @ NYG

This one is tough to recommend because I could be on the wrong side of this game. But I believe the NYG offense is worse than the NE offense, and despite their defense not being impressive, the matchup is too good to pass. They are a top-ten defense in rushing yards allowed and will give the rookie QB problems coming out of the bye week. They also forced multiple turnovers and generated a sack in three of their last four games. While this defense is only a spot start, it's still a top-12 option.

CINCINNATI BENGALS VS PIT

Despite the injury to Joe Burrow, this defense has still been solid against some pretty good offenses (BAL, BUF, HOU, SF). They now get to face a PIT offense that's in the bottom five in passing yards and points per game. Don't forget this defense has forced multiple turnovers in five of their last six games and generated multiple sacks in four games. They are still in the top ten in the league, forcing turnovers, and will continue to be an underrated defense with top-12 potential despite lacking the top-five upside.

MINNESOTA VIKINGS VS CHI

I'm not too confident about this defense, but they have been looking better in recent weeks. Forcing multiple turnovers in two of their last three games and generating a sack in every game this season, they face a CHI offense in the bottom ten in turnovers. They held their opponents to 21 points or less in five of their last six games and will hopefully continue that trend. I wouldn't prefer them over the above options, but they are not a bad consolation prize as a high-floor option that will get you a handful of points.
