

WEEK 5 QB STREAMERS

LOOKING FOR PLAYERS ON LESS THAN 60% OF ROSTERS IN YAHOO

1

JARED GOFF (DET) @ NE

Coming off his best performance of the season, it's low-hanging fruit having his name here (although it may be the last time this season if he keeps this up). He has increased his passing yards and completion percentage in every game this season. Against a solid NE defense, I'm not expecting top-12 numbers, but top-15 is likely since their defense is struggling, forcing Goff to keep throwing to keep up.

CARSON WENTZ (WAS) VS TEN

I was torn between Ryan Tannehill or Wentz looking at this matchup. Both defenses are below average, with TEN being better against the run and forcing turnovers compared to WAS being a better pass defense. Ultimately, I prefer to start someone who can finish a top-five QB (Weeks 1 & 2) since I believe both QBs have low floors for different reasons (Wentz turnovers & Tannehill with limited volume).

JAMEIS WINSTON/ANDY DALTON (NO) VS SEA

This is more about the matchup than the QB himself. SEA has one of the worse defenses (not including last week), and if Alvin Kamara or Michael Thomas returns, this could be a top-15 floor play for 17-20 points. Fortunate for NO, SEA is a bottom ten defense in multiple categories (yards per play allowed, % of drives that end with a score, etc.). If Kamara, Thomas and Winston misses this game, I may pivot.

4

TEDDY BRIDGEWATER (MIA) @ NYJ

I chose the safer option between him and Zach Wilson, even though the upside isn't as high. Something to note, Wilson had a receiving TD which inflated his numbers. While Bridgewater isn't a top ten option, he still has Tyreek Hill and Jaylen Waddle to stretch the field, and he may end up around the QB12-18 range as a solid QB2 in superflex leagues, or a spot start if you need a QB.
