

WEEK 12 WAIVERS

LOOKING FOR PLAYERS ON LESS THAN 50% OF ROSTERS IN YAHOO

1

ZACH ERTZ (TE) - WAS (14)

Currently in the top-12 TE at this point in the season, he's been a solid contributor with at least four catches and over 40 receiving yards four times over his last six games. Last week, he was coming off one of his best games of the season, his third game over the last four with at least seven targets. While the offense has slowed down recently, with upcoming matchups against DAL and TEN before their bye week, Ertz is a solid streaming option that may be worth rostering as a low-upside starter.

2

JERRY JEUDY (WR) - CLE (10)

Coming off his best performance of the season (first touchdown since Week 1), he has at least eight targets over the last three games and have turned that target share into at least five catches and 70 yards. He also has led the team in targets in consecutive games and is becoming one of the primary receiving threats despite the competition for targets. The next three matchups are tough (PIT twice and DEN), so I wouldn't be rostering him to expect anything more than a flex option in PPR scoring leagues.

3

BO NIX (QB) - DEN (14)

I know it's a bit reactionary, but he's been putting together some solid performances with at least 200 passing yards and multiple touchdowns in five of his last seven games. Recently, the upside in what we thought was a mediocre offense changed. Last week was his first game with over 300 passing yards and four touchdowns. He has also limited his mistakes, with only two interceptions over his last six games, and has become a volatile QB1 with favorable matchups like LV and CLE in the next two weeks.

4

HUNTER HENRY (TE) - NE (14)

He continues to be one of the primary receiving threats for this NE offense, making Henry a top-12 TE so far this season. With at least five catches and over 40 receiving yards in four of his last five games, he has been solid, albeit lacking the upside to crack the top five, with no touchdowns during that span. With upcoming matchups against MIA and IND before their bye week, he will remain a high-floor, low-upside streaming option that can get you enough points to survive.

FOLLOW US @AKAMAIFANTASY

WWW.AKAMAIFANTASYFOOTBALL.COM