

WEEK 3 QB STREAMERS

LOOKING FOR PLAYERS ON LESS THAN 60% OF ROSTERS IN YAHOO

1

JARED GOFF (DET) @ MIN

He's been impressive over the past two games, scoring six touchdowns, throwing over 200 yards, and not making as many mistakes. His chemistry with Amon-Ra St. Brown has given me optimism that he could be in weekly consideration as a streaming option. Facing MIN, there's undoubtedly some risk to Goff, but against one of the bottom five in yards per attempt and completion percentage, not a bad option.

MARCUS MARIOTA (ATL) @ SEA

After an impressive Week 1 performance, I was scared off of him last week because of the matchup. However, he played better than I expected, almost winning the game. Now that he is facing a SEA defense without one of their better players (Jamal Adams), I like the floor he provides with his rushing role within the offense averaging nine attempts. He is undoubtedly limited, however, so I'm not expecting a lot.

3

CARSON WENTZ (WAS) VS PHI

Despite his inconsistency, he has remained hot to start the season with over 300 passing yards and seven touchdowns. Facing a decent PHI defense, I'm not expecting him to repeat what he did over the past two games. He will likely have a turnover or two and may look bad for half the game. However, that offense needs him to throw the ball, and he will have every opportunity to finish as a top-12 option.

4

COOPER RUSH (DAL) VS @ NYG

This last spot was either Trevor Lawrence against a tough LAC defense or this, and I went with the easier matchup. Cooper rush was solid last week, finishing with over 200 yards and a TD and facing a defense missing a few starters (Leonard Williams, Kayvon Thibodeaux, Azeez Ojulari, etc.). This could be a top-15 performance that could help you win your superflex leagues or if you had Trey Lance/Dak Prescott.
