

WEEK 6 THURSDAY NIGHT - WAS @ CHI

FOLLOW ON TWITTER/INSTAGRAM:
@AKAMAIFANTASY

FINAL SCORE: WAS 12 - CHI 7

Brian Robinson led the RBs in snaps 47%, while Antonio Gibson (26%) and J.D. McKissic (30%) were involved in a committee. Robinson out-touched Gibson and McKissic 17-10.

Carson Wentz averaged 4.5 yards per attempt, and completing 54% of his passes. He's thrown three touchdowns and three interceptions over the past four games.

WAS offensively struggled to convert 3rd downs (2/11) and started slowly with only three times first downs on their first four drives in the first half and averaged four yards per play.

Terry McLaurin led the team with an 18% target share and accounted for 41% of the team's receiving yards despite tying for a season-low four targets and failing to surpass 50 receiving yards.

Besides Terry McLaurin, no other player surpassed 25 receiving yards; however, they had zero turnovers and the WAS defense made some stops in their redzone.

1

David Montgomery finished with 40% of the team's rushing attempts despite finishing 3rd in rushing yards behind Justin Fields and Khalil Herbert, who got 85% of his yards from one big play.

2

Justin Fields has more than 20 passing attempts over the last three games after averaging 15 over the first three games. He averaged seven yards per attempt and completed 51% of his passes.

3

Darnell Mooney finished with more targets (12) than the last two games combined (10). He is averaging 71 receiving yards over his previous three games versus nine over the first three games.

4

Justin Fields finished with his best rushing performance of the season with a season-high in rushing yards (88) and attempts (12). He led the team in rushing yards and was under pressure all game (5 sacks).

5

CHI's offense started off moving the ball well, with them having two redzone attempts on their first three drives despite not scoring any points due to a redzone turnover and failing to convert on 4th down.