

WAIVER ADDS WEEK 14

12/9/2020

These four players should be targeted in most 12 team leagues and are currently rostered in less than 40% of Yahoo leagues.

TY JOHNSON - NYJ

He's the only RB option I would consider spending FAAB due to the volume of touches he's projected to have if Gore misses the game. Finishing with 24 touches and 117 yards last week, he's a flex option against SEA this week with a potential TD. If Gore is healthy, then I'm not starting Johnson until he has the majority of touches, which may happen eventually?

KEKE COUTEE - HOU

With Fuller suspended, there was a question on who was going to step up for the Texans offense. Coutee performed well with nine targets, finishing with eight catches for 141 yards. WR Chad Hansen also saw an increased role so this situation is still unclear. Facing CHI, the gamescript could force HOU to throw more, but I'll likely sit him just to see if this was a fluke.

TIM PATRICK - DEN

I need to confess. I dropped him in a couple of my leagues, and I wished I started him last week. Excluding the NO game, he has either surpassed 50 yards or caught a TD in his last four games. With upcoming games against CAR and BUF, he could be a spot start to help you in a pinch if Lock is also healthy.

LOGAN THOMAS - WAS

Barely making the cut at 40% ownership, I can't help, but friendly remind you that he's still here if you need him. Coming off his best game of the season, he showed the upside that is not always present but hasn't disappeared. Averaging five targets from Weeks 9-12 games, he's a floor option in PPR leagues and streamable in good matchups.

