

WEEK 17 QB/DEF STREAMERS

LOOKING FOR PLAYERS ON LESS THAN 55% OF ROSTERS IN YAHOO

1

CARSON WENTZ - (IND) - VS LV

While he has come back down to earth recently, he's facing a defense that could be missing a few of their starters due to a recent COVID outbreak. However, he can be a competent streaming option, finishing at least 220 yards and two TDs in eight games this season. While I wouldn't be rushing to start him in single QB leagues, he will be someone I would consider as a superflex option.

2

TUA TAGOVAILOA - (MIA) @ TEN

While he doesn't have the upside you would want, he has been solid as a superflex option finishing with almost 200 yards and two TDs in three of the past five games. However, facing an okay TEN defense, this is a risky streaming option as I don't believe there's much upside in this matchup. If I were to start him, it would be a desperation play as I'm hoping he at least gets two TDs to provide some floor.

CLEVELAND BROWNS @ PIT

Although all the turbulence COVID has created over the past few weeks, they have been a solid streaming option. With more than one sack and one turnover in two of the last three games, they are facing one of the league's worst offenses this week. I will monitor the injury report to see if more of the defense returns as I know they lost pass rusher Takk McKinley, to injury.

4

CHICAGO BEARS VS NYG

Over recent weeks, this defense has been injured and missing more than a few key players. However, the NYG offense has been awful, and I can't imagine this defense bot taking advantage. Therefore, I wouldn't expect more than a handful of points and would be using this as a last resort option unless DT Akiem Hicks returns from COVID.
