

QB STREAM WEEK 15

12/15/2020

These four QB are streamable options and currently are rostered in less than 60% of Yahoo leagues.

PHILIP RIVERS - IND VS HOU

He has been quietly having a solid month where he has been one of the consistent streaming options in the waiver wire pool. Averaging around 275 yards and two touchdowns over the past five games, he faces a subpar HOU defense that is missing CB Bradley Roby. I worry that the game script will favor a run-heavy approach, and they may not need him, but there aren't much better options out there.

MITCHELL TRUBISKY - CHI @ MIN

If DJ Moore and CMC return next week, I will start Teddy Bridgewater. But if not, then he's another option. Coming off his best performance of the season, he's facing a beatable MIN defense that makes me wonder if this might be a shootout? A divisional matchup, so anything could happen, but three touchdowns in two of the past three games is a decent upside.

JALEN HURTS - PHI @ ARI

Surprised with how well he played last week with over 100 rushing yards against a talented defense. Facing ARI, I don't expect another 100 yards, but this gives him a floor that I don't believe some other options provide. He's a rookie who's playing his 2nd game as a starter, so this is a high-risk, high reward type of play that I wouldn't advise unless you're in a superflex league.

BAKER MAYFIELD - CLE @ NYG

Coming off a strong performance against a good defense, he has thrown for more than 250 yards and two touchdowns over the past three weeks. Facing NYG, this is a tough matchup where I'm expecting the floor more than the ceiling. He's played very well recently, and I'm riding the momentum if I just need 18 points.

