

WEEK 12 QB STREAMERS

LOOKING FOR PLAYERS ON LESS THAN 70% OF ROSTERS IN YAHOO

1

BROCK PURDY (SF) VS CAR

Returning from injury, he looked impressive early, throwing three touchdowns with no turnovers. This week will probably be your last opportunity to pick him up on waivers, since he gets a decent matchup against a CAR defense that's league-average in points and passing yards allowed per game, but gave up 27 points last week. With Ricky Pearsall returning, the SF offense has almost all of its receiving playmakers healthy, and I would expect Purdy to be a top-15 option in most matchups.

2

JACOBY BRISSETT (AZ) VS JAX

Even with the injury to Marvin Harrison, Brissett continues to be a great streaming option, throwing at least 250 yards and two touchdowns in five straight games, including against decent defenses (IND & GB). Throwing over 400 yards last week, the volume is impressive. Until he has a couple of bad games, I consider him nearly matchup-proof. Facing a JAX defense that's in the bottom ten in passing yards allowed and has given up over 28 points in three of their last four games, I consider Brissett my top streaming option.

3

SAM DARNOLD (SEA) @ TEN

While the poor performance against AZ wasn't necessarily his fault, this past week was, with zero touchdowns for the first time since Week 1. He also threw four interceptions, leading them to fail to score at least 20 points for the first time since Week 1. Facing a bad TEN defense that's in the bottom ten in total yards and points allowed per game, he should bounce back, even if they are ahead for most of the game. I wouldn't expect a top-ten performance, but he's not a bad last resort streaming option.

4

TREVOR LAWRENCE @ AZ

This one is risky considering he hasn't thrown multiple touchdowns since Week 6 and hasn't surpassed 200 yards in consecutive games. What has made him streamable is his rushing ability, as he has scored a touchdown in two of his last three games. It was between him and Joe Flacco against NE without his superstar WR, and I decided to swing for the fences. Against an AZ defense that ranks in the bottom ten in points allowed per game, I could see this being a shootout, but it's still a last-resort option.

FOLLOW US @AKAMAIFANTASY

WWW.AKAMAIFANTASYFOOTBALL.COM