

WEEK 10 DEF STREAMERS

LOOKING FOR TEAMS ON LESS THAN 60% OF ROSTERS IN YAHOO

1

BUFFALO BILLS @ MIA

While they haven't been a great defense, the flashed some upside, generating multiple sacks and forcing a turnover in four of their last five games. Facing an MIA offense that leads the league in turnovers, and is in the bottom ten in points scored and total yards per game, it's a great matchup despite being divisional rivals. Sure, this defense didn't play well last time, but this is an MIA offense that lost Tyreek Hill and is trading away players for draft picks. I consider them one of the top streaming options available.

2

CLEVELAND BROWNS VS NYJ

Coming off the bye week, this defense has played decently, generating multiple sacks and forcing multiple turnovers in three of its last four games. Facing an NYJ offense that's in the bottom ten in total yards and points scored per game, I don't anticipate a high-scoring game. While they can run the ball, this defense is in the top ten in rushing yards allowed per game, and I imagine they will continue to pressure Justin Fields and generate sacks, making them a solid top-15 streaming option.

3

CAROLINA PANTHERS VS NO

This sounds unbelievable, but this defense has shown some streaming potential, forcing multiple turnovers, generating a sack, and holding their opponents to under 14 points in two of their last three games. Facing a NO offense that scored 14 points or less in three straight games and in the bottom five in turnovers, with a rookie QB on their second start, is a great matchup. The top-ten upside is there, and you'll likely be able to find them on waivers. There's certainly risk, but the matchup is too good for me not to stream them.

4

BALTIMORE RAVENS @ MIN

This one is risky, but they have played well recently, allowing 17 points or less, generating a sack, and forcing a turnover over three straight games. Facing a MIN offense that's bottom ten in turnovers and total yards per game, it's not a great matchup, but there are reasons to be optimistic if they can pressure the rookie QB into a mistake. Considering he has thrown an INT in every game he started, it's not out of the realm for this defense to have a top-15 performance even if they give up 20-24 points.

FOLLOW US @AKAMAIFANTASY

WWW.AKAMAIFANTASYFOOTBALL.COM