

WEEK 16 QB STREAMERS

LOOKING FOR PLAYERS ON LESS THAN 70% OF ROSTERS IN YAHOO

1

JACOBY BRISSETT (AZ) VS ATL

After last week's impressive performance against a top-tier HOU defense, he will be one of the better streaming options. Throwing multiple touchdowns in eight out of the previous nine games and over 240 yards in every start, he will be facing an ATL defense that has given up at least 27 points in five of their last six games and is below average in points allowed per game. The AZ offense relies on Brissett to move the ball, and garbage-time stats have made him virtually matchup-proof.

2

TYLER SHOUGH (NO) VS NYJ

Over the last three games, he has flashed some resemblance to a top 15 QB, throwing over 230 yards and a touchdown in two of those games while surpassing 30 rushing yards in back-to-back games. While that alone isn't impressive, facing a NYJ defense that's bottom five in rushing yards allowed and points allowed per game, gives Shough enough upside to score a rushing touchdown to compensate for the mediocre passing volume. With the injuries to Kamara and Neal, I'm hopeful they will throw the ball more.

3

AARON RODGERS (PIT) @ DET

Coming off a strong performance last week, I'm not going to pretend that this Rodgers is a top streaming option because he lacks the top-ten upside, failing to throw over 250 yards or multiple touchdowns in five of his last six games. With a decent matchup against a DET defense that's in the bottom ten of passing yards and points allowed per game, I imagine that Rodgers will need to throw the ball to keep up with the DET offense. I wouldn't make him a top priority, but he's not the worst to stream as a last resort.

4

J.J. MCCARTHY (MIN) @ NYG

This feels like a trap, but I can't choose Tua Tagovailoa against CIN because the upside is higher, which sounds insane. McCarthy has thrown multiple touchdowns in back-to-back games, something Tagovailoa hasn't done since Week 5. Facing a NYG defense that's at the bottom ten for passing yards and points allowed per game, it's another good matchup where McCarthy can throw multiple touchdowns. I prefer to avoid him in single-QB leagues, but if you're desperate, he's my last resort.

FOLLOW US @AKAMAIFANTASY

WWW.AKAIMAIFANTASYFOOTBALL.COM