

WEEK 11 DEF STREAMERS

LOOKING FOR TEAMS ON LESS THAN 60% OF ROSTERS IN YAHOO

1

NEW ENGLAND PATRIOTS VS NYJ

I know Thursday night games can be weird, so they aren't my top option, but I can't not stream a top-10 defense in total yards and rushing yards, and points allowed per game against a bottom-five NYJ offense in passing yards and bottom ten in points scored per game. They lost their star WR to injury and had less than 200 total yards of offense last week. The NYJ offense relies on running the ball, and this NE defense is equipped to slow it down, making it a solid top-15 streaming option.

BALTIMORE RAVENS @ CLE

Since the bye, this defense has bounced back with solid performances, generating a sack, forcing a turnover, and holding their opponents to under 20 points in three straight games. They forced three turnovers in consecutive weeks and face a CLE offense that has scored at least 20 points only once this season and ranks in the bottom five in total yards and points per game. A divisional matchup is risky, but I'll take my chances on top-ten upside.

GREEN BAY PACKERS @ NYG

This recommendation is purely a play against Russell Wilson and an NYG offense that has lost its starting RB, WR, and QB, and has fired its head coach. They are also in the bottom ten in points scored per game. Despite forcing a turnover in four straight games and holding opponents to under 20 points in back-to-back games, this is not a high-upside play, as I question this inconsistent defense. I can see them getting only a handful of points, making them a decent but not my preferred top-15 option.

CHICAGO BEARS @ MIN

While this may be a bad defense, they are a solid fantasy football defense, generating at least three sacks and forcing multiple turnovers in three of their last five games. Despite giving up at least 30 points in two of their last three games, their ability to pressure the QB and lead the league in takeaways will benefit them against a MIN offense that's in the bottom three in turnovers. Probably the riskiest of the above options, they have one of the highest upsides, making them a boom-or-bust streaming option.
