

WEEK 12 DEF STREAMERS

LOOKING FOR TEAMS ON LESS THAN 60% OF ROSTERS IN YAHOO

1

CLEVELAND BROWNS @ LV

Coming off an impressive performance against BAL, generating at least three sacks and forcing multiple turnovers in three of their last four games. They are also a top-three defense in passing yards and total yards allowed per game. Facing a bottom-five LV offense in total yards and points scored per game, and failed to score double-digits in two of their last four games. This great matchup makes them one of the preferred streaming options available with top-ten upside.

ATLANTA FALCONS @ NO

Despite a disappointing performance last week, I'm optimistic that this defense will bounce back against an NO offense that's in the bottom ten in total yards and points scored per game, also bottom ten in turnovers. Despite Michael Penix's injury, I don't think the downgrade at quarterback will affect this defense, which has generated at least five sacks in three straight games and forced multiple turnovers in two of them, making it a decent streaming option.

LOS ANGELES RAMS VS TB

This top-ten fantasy defense has remained impressive, forcing multiple turnovers (top five in league) in three straight games and holding opponents to under 20 points in two of them. They have a tough matchup against a TB offense that has scored more than 21 points in three straight games and may have Bucky Irving or Chris Godwin return. Despite this, I would rather stream good defenses in bad matchups rather than the other way around.

BUFFALO BILLS @ HOU

While they haven't been great and not much of a streaming option, they have forced multiple turnovers in three of their last four games. Despite giving up at least 30 points in back-to-back games, they are facing a HOU offense that's likely to start a backup QB and hasn't scored at least 20 points in two of its last three games. Thursday night games are weird, and this is one of the riskier options available. If I cannot get one of the above options, I'm hoping for a top-15 performance and a handful of points.
